CITY OF MONTGOMERY SELECTS QUALITY CORRECTIONAL HEALTH CARE, QCHC, TO MANAGE CORRECTIONAL HEALTH CARE AT THE CITY JAIL

The Birmingham based company specializes in correctional health care in jails throughout the South.

Montgomery, AL: Mayor Todd Strange announced today that the City of Montgomery has selected Quality Correctional Health Care, QCHC, to provide health care for the city's inmates. The Birmingham based company specializes in correctional health care in county and city jails in the south.

"We are pleased to partner with QCHC because of their track record for saving money in correctional health care. I am aware of a huge savings with the Montgomery County Jail when the commission hired QCHC 3 years ago. During the first year as the new medical provider, records show QCHC saved the county $300,000 in correctional health care expenses," said Mayor Strange.

QCHC's CEO, Dr. Johnny Bates says the company will begin immediately managing the city's jail and providing quality health care for the inmates. "Our objective will be to review the inmate's medical records, limit off-site transports, and provide pharmaceutical discounts, areas we initially explore to begin saving on medical expenses," says Dr. Bates.

QCHC will begin the new contract on July 15, 2009.

"QCHC is honored to become the new team partner with Chief Art Baylor and his staff at the Montgomery City Jail," says Dr. Johnny Bates. "We are ready to begin a solid relationship to provide quality medical services for the inmates and excellent customer service for the staff," says Bates.

QCHC has more than 25 years of correctional medical services experience. Dr. Bates began his medical career taking care of inmates and has a passion for providing quality health care for inmates. "Our company knows and understands correctional health care. That, we believe makes the difference in providing quality and complete health care in the corrections industry."

Dr. Bates began QCHC in 2005. He holds several key certifications including MMM, CPE, CCHP, CPMIMS.

"Our team of nurses and health care professionals is excited about the opportunity to work with the Chief and his staff at the city jail. We believe we will be able to run an efficient medical services operation that will save taxpayer dollars in today's health care environment," says Dr. Bates.

"We bring the experience of knowing how to save money, how to find healthcare discounts whenever possible, how to care for mentally challenged inmates and how to manage jail facilities," says Dr. Bates.
